Candidate Statement:

I will fight for the taxpayers at every turn and promise to never forget who I work for. Too many times those that speak loudest get heard, while others are too busy working, raising families, or both, to have a voice. I will be your voice. Now is not the time to give up, and accept lawlessness, squaller, and empty storefronts as the new normal of our city. We can do better. We can create an environment of prosperity and inclusiveness where all community members feel heard, because no community can thrive if members of that community feel left behind. Our strength is in our diversity. Our power is in the belief that anyone can be successful. I will work tirelessly to that end. I own and operate a business that was shut down through large portions of the pandemic and understand what it will take to fully recover. You have told me of your concerns with housing, homelessness, and safety. I share those concerns. As someone who was born, raised, and educated here in Sacramento, I'm now asking for your help to become a public servant who will always look out for the taxpayers first.
