Multi-generational Art Show Brings Together Artists of All Ages: Saturday, October 13th

Sacramento, California, October 11, 2007—The media and public are invited to attend the Hart Multi-purpose Center's Multi-generational Art Show. The art show is one of Sacramento's most captivating shows because it highlights the importance of art at each stage of human development. This year's show will feature works by children as young as six-years-of-age and works by renowned adult artists, the most seasoned being 97-years-of-age.

The art show will take place at the Hart Multi-purpose Senior Center, a unique community resource that continues to enrich the lives of this city's seniors by providing a wide-range of free or low-cost social, recreation, and nutrition programs.
