FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Camp Sacramento family camp offers affordable, fun-filled vacation experiences without breaking the bank

Sacramento, California, May 12, 2008—Camp Sacramento is now taking reservations for its 2008 summer camp season. This summer, as gas prices keep residents closer to home and families look to get more for their money, Camp Sacramento is already seeing a sizable increase in its camp reservation rates. Perhaps the most striking thing about Camp Sacramento is its affordability. A family of four can enjoy a four-day vacation experience, meals and activities included, for as little as $573.00.

Camp Sacramento is a City of Sacramento-operated camp that is located in the Eldorado National Forest, just over an hour's drive from Sacramento. The camp provides families a complete vacation experience that includes supervised recreation programs, river play, beautiful scenery, great food, friendly staff, and lots of leisure time for parents.

This summer, Camp Sacramento is offering families the choice of four-day mini camps or week-long vacation sessions. Camp guests are provided three meals each day and lots of nature-inspired experiences.

Prospective campers can visit the camp's website, www.campsac.org, to get more information and check camp rates. They can also speak to a Camp Sacramento representative by calling 916-808-6098.
