Greyhound and the City of Sacramento Host Grand Opening Event at New Terminal July 13

Greyhound's Sacramento terminal is silver LEED-certified and designed to be more efficient for bus service and provide better passenger accommodations.

DALLAS (July 11, 2011) – On Wednesday, July 13, Greyhound Vice President of Customer Service Myron Watkins and Sacramento Mayor Kevin Johnson will provide a first-hand look inside the new Sacramento Greyhound terminal, 420 Richards Blvd, during a grand opening event beginning at 10 a.m. The Greyhound terminal is 10,000 square feet with seven bus bays, a sleek, modern façade and an onsite restaurant serving hot meals and snacks.

“We are so pleased to offer this preview of our new Sacramento terminal,” said Watkins. “Mayor Johnson and the City of Sacramento Economic Development team have been tremendous advocates in this process, and we sincerely appreciate their assistance and focus. We look forward to serving as good community partners for many years to come.”

The new terminal is self-certified as silver LEED and uses strategies that improve energy savings, water efficiency, CO2 emissions and indoor environmental quality. Design features incorporated on the Sacramento build include:

- Controlled passenger waiting areas
- Meets latest Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design standards
- Designed to mitigate storm water runoff with slanted parking lot, drainage swales and detention ponds to filter runoff
- Daylight harvesting – system of natural lighting elements (windows and skylights) that are monitored with photo cells to control dimmable light fixtures
- Tall volume ceilings help cool the building
- Concrete flooring is sustainable by helping with thermal mass

Greyhound has been working with the City of Sacramento for more than two years on this project. Funding for the new terminal was provided by a combination of impact fees, redevelopment funds and capital improvement funds.
