Appendix A: Examples of Organizational Capacity Building Projects .................................................. 23
1. BACKGROUND

Community-based nonprofit organizations fill essential social service gaps for many of our most vulnerable and marginalized communities – providing programs and services that are even more critical in times of crisis and as our communities recover from the global pandemic. Oftentimes, however, these organizations take on the added burden of operating with restricted funds leaving limited resources to focus on strengthening infrastructure. Research reveals that when organizations are provided flexible funding combined with support and opportunities to strengthen their capacity and infrastructure, they are entrusted, empowered, and better equipped to do what they do best – serve their communities – while increasing their organizational resiliency.

In response to these realities, the City of Sacramento, Office of Youth Development ("OYD") developed the Youth-Serving Organizational Resiliency Fund ("Resiliency Fund"). Eligible community-based nonprofit organizations providing direct services to Sacramento children or youth and are interested in strengthening their organizational capacity, as well as the broader youth-serving ecosystem, are invited to apply to this Request for Application ("RFA"). Successful applicants will receive unrestricted general operating support grants and tailored organizational resiliency opportunities, more commonly known as capacity building.

ORGANIZATIONAL READINESS

The Resiliency Fund will provide a suite of resources including opportunities for organizations to engage in deep and sometimes challenging work to strengthen and enhance organizational resiliency and build a community of practice amongst Sacramento youth-serving community-based organizations. These activities are mandatory and require buy-in from all grantees.

Organizations interested in applying must feel confident they are ready and able to commit to an organizational development journey. This includes a time commitment for essential staff of approximately 5-7 hours per month for a minimum of 18 months. By applying for this grant, you are affirming your organization’s “readiness” for this work.

A key aspect of readiness is an organization’s willingness to undergo changes necessary to move from a project-based mindset to a broader impact mindset. If this is not the best time for your organization to dive deep and adjust your organizational processes and practices, you may not be able to fully leverage the resources this grant program offers. The Organizational Self-Assessment, described in the following section begins with a set of questions to help organizations assess their readiness for this opportunity.

ORGANIZATIONAL SELF-ASSESSMENT

To be eligible for the Resiliency Fund grant program, interested applicants are asked to complete a preliminary Organizational Self-Assessment ("self-assessment" or "OSA"), intended to a) help their organization identify its strengths and vision for stability and growth, and b) help OYD design customized resources and opportunities to support grantees with executing their vision both individually and collectively.¹

While the self-assessment is a planning tool intended to help organizations determine their focus for this grant opportunity, it is also OYD’s sincerest hope that this process will benefit all applicants by facilitating an organization-wide dialogue framed around organizational strengths and continuous quality improvement. It is important to note that your self-assessment results do not factor into your application score.

Click here to download the Organizational Self-Assessment. Applicants are required to upload their completed self-assessment with the grant application as described in the “Application Uploads” section of this RFA (p. 19). OYD hosted an OSA Information Session on November 7, 2022, the recording is accessible on OYD’s webpage.

KEY TERMS

We acknowledge that terms such as “capacity building” can infer an existing state of deficit for some audiences. We also acknowledge that traditional capacity building models have many times left behind organizations with certain profiles (e.g. organizations led by people of color, grassroots organizations, etc.).² In line with OYD’s grantmaking philosophy which centers positive youth development, social justice, and equity, we ascribe to the current perspective in the grantmaking field that calls for shifting to a more asset- and trust-based approach. As such, while we seek to elevate the term “organizational resiliency,” we use it interchangeably throughout this RFA with the more well-known terms “capacity building” and “organizational development.”

- Capacity building: Described by Grantmakers for Effective Organizations as the “funding and technical assistance necessary to help nonprofits increase specific capabilities to deliver stronger programs, take risks, build connections, innovate and iterate.”

- Community-based organizations (“CBOs”): Defined for the purpose of this RFA as nonprofit, non-governmental organizations that provide specific programs/services to the community, or targeted populations within the community.³ (For this grant, the community is defined as children and youth living or going to school in priority neighborhoods within Sacramento City limits.)

- Community of practice: Provides space for youth and youth-serving practitioners to come together to share ideas, tools, and build and test practical resources to advance youth development through collaboration, dialogue, and collective sharing and learning.⁴

- Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI): To review the City of Sacramento’s working definitions of these terms, please visit the Office of Diversity and Equity’s webpage.

• Ecosystem: Collections of people, places, and possibilities that constitute an environment full of learning and development opportunities.5

• General operating support (“GOS”) grants: Unrestricted grants intended to strengthen a nonprofit organization’s mission rather than specific projects or programs. GOS provides the working capital nonprofits need to sustain their day-to-day operations, allowing grantees the flexibility to pay for items such as salaries, facility rent, supplies, marketing, and other essential expenses.6 While GOS grants may be used to fill temporary gaps or enhance existing programs, they also focus on strengthening an organization’s capacity to continue delivering results into the future.

• Organizational resiliency: The ability of an organization to anticipate, prepare for, respond, and adapt to incremental change and sudden disruptions in order to survive and prosper.7 Taken further, it is an asset-based, community-responsive approach honoring CBOs for their strengths, visions, and wisdom.8 Selected grantees will be provided supports they themselves identify as critical to realizing their visions for the future so that they may not just sustain operations, but thrive.

CITY OF SACRAMENTO YOUTH DEVELOPMENT PLAN & FRAMEWORK

The Citywide Youth Development Plan & Framework for Children and Youth Programs (“Youth Plan”) guides the City of Sacramento (“the City”) in the design, operations and evaluation of its children and youth investments, with a concerted application of resources toward young people in greatest need. It was developed through a community-driven process with input from City staff, Sacramento youth, and local youth-serving CBOs. The Youth Plan outlines goals from cradle-to-career, as well as a unified youth development framework that integrates a set of social justice principles intended to guide and align the City and its partners around common evidence-informed practices at the staff, program, and organizational levels.

This RFA reflects another step towards the City’s vision that all Sacramento youth are valued and reach their fullest potential. It is important for interested applicants to review the Youth Plan prior to completing an application to ensure their organizational mission and vision aligns.

RESILIENCY FUND VALUES & GOALS

The OYD team developed this grant program with input from nearly 100 local CBOs, through a listening session and survey in Spring 2022. The insights shared were instrumental in the development of foundation statements, program goals, and overall structure, helping to further ensure the Resiliency Fund is responsive to the needs and desires of our CBO community partners.

Resiliency Fund Foundation Statements

1. We uphold the belief that no one knows the needs of the CBO community better than the CBOs that make up that community.
2. We acknowledge that language can be a barrier to accessing grant resources, and the burden of accurately interpreting jargon has traditionally fallen upon the grantseeker.
3. CBOs in all life stages can produce quality programming.
4. We honor the Youth Plan developed in collaboration with the CBO community as a roadmap to a more collaborative and impactful CBO ecosystem.

Learn more how OYD addresses these realities in our grant development, technical assistance, and evaluation/scoring processes here.

Resiliency Fund Program Goals

The Office of Youth Development has designed this grant program to fulfill the following goals:

1. Help strengthen youth-serving community-based organizations whose mission and goals reflect the mission and goals of the Youth Plan.

2. Deliver tailored organizational resiliency opportunities for CBO partners that leverage the collective strengths of CBOs to help them get closer to their programmatic and organizational visions and increase collaboration and alignment across the Sacramento youth-serving CBO ecosystem.

3. Help build a strong community of practice connected by shared missions and goals, using a common language, lens, and approach informed by youth development research.

4. Drive trust-building and equity in grantmaking by (1) encouraging CBOs to take ownership of and steer their experiences throughout the grant period, and (2) providing CBOs with flexibility to use grant funds for needs they have identified as important.

5. Support a robust and diverse ecosystem of youth-serving CBOs at key stages of the organizational life cycle.

6. Support youth-serving CBOs’ commitment to and prioritization of diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) initiatives at the organizational level.

7. Support best practices in organizational resiliency including proactive planning, strong leadership, decentralized decision-making, and acknowledging risk.⁹

On June 14, 2022 City Council approved the Workforce Development Framework and Spending Plan which included an allocation of $300,000 to the Stabilization Fund to support organizations providing youth workforce services.

11 Direct services programming is defined as the applicant’s staff having direct contact with children or youth at the point of service.

12 If the applying organization a) serves youth and other populations, “organizational budget” is defined as its youth services operational budget and/or; b) has operations in multiple regions, “organizational budget” is defined as its Sacramento operational budget.

The fiscal sponsor must be registered and in good standing with the California Secretary of State, the California Attorney General, and with the City of Sacramento if the fiscal sponsor is a current or former grantee or contractor.

USE OF FUNDS

General operating support funds are intended to be used for expenses that support an organization’s mission, allowing grantees the flexibility to expend funds in ways that best meet their organizational needs, with the few exceptions listed below.

Ineligible Uses of Funds

- Supplanting, displacing, and/or replacing services already being provided by the City, its grantees, school districts, or other public entities
- Activities closed to the general public including restricted programs or projects such as social clubs, individual or private schools, or membership groups
- Advancement of certain sectarian, politically partisan, or religious projects (grant funds should be used to support an organization’s direct youth services operations and not to advance the causes of any of the stated groups)
- Political campaigning or lobbying
- Purchase of land, buildings, and construction (capital expenditures), renovation
- Any expenses incurred outside of the grant period
GRANT STRUCTURE, COMPONENTS & TIMELINE

The Resiliency Fund includes two mutually supportive components: general operating support grants, and capacity building services. Customized capacity building services will be provided to grantees in addition to general operating support grants and will be designed to support grantees with addressing the organizational development areas that they prioritize through a supported, yet grantee-led process.

With insights gained from their organizational self-assessment and with support from Technical Assistance (“TA”) partners, grantees will develop an Organizational Resiliency Action Plan (“Action Plan”) that identifies the best use of their general operating support funds, as well as targeted capacity building activities intended to increase organizational resiliency into the future. (See Appendix A for examples of organizational capacity building projects).

Grantees will participate in one-on-one and cohort-based capacity building activities provided throughout the course of the grant period. These activities will be focused on supporting grantees with actualizing their unique organizational visions and increasing collaboration and alignment across the youth development field in Sacramento. One-on-one support will provide grantees with customized assistance that will help them achieve their goals, while cohort meetings will provide training on topics identified by the cohort, as well as peer-based learning opportunities for grantees to discuss challenges, seek advice from peers and colleagues, and collaborate across projects in a community of practice.

GENERAL OPERATING SUPPORT GRANTS

The GOS component of the Resiliency Fund aims to support an organization’s infrastructure for greater sustainability and increased impact. Through insights from their organizational assessment and action planning process, grantees will identify the best use of these funds which can include areas such as salaries, rent, supplies, marketing, as well as targeted capacity building expenses.

Resiliency Fund award amounts are based on the applicant’s annual budget in the current or most recent budgetary year\(^\text{13}\) (excluding COVID-19 Relief Funding), as follows:

- The City will award $15,000 to organizations with an annual budget between $100,000 - $249,999

\(^{13}\) If the applying organization a) serves youth and other populations, “organizational budget” is defined as its youth services operational budget and/or; b) has operations in multiple regions, “organizational budget” is defined as its Sacramento operational budget.
• The City will award $20,000 to organizations with an annual budget between $250,000 - $499,999
• The City will award $25,000 to organizations with an annual budget between $500,000 - $4,000,000

Depending on the availability of funds, the City may issue additional general operating support grants for the second 12 months of the grant period in amounts to be determined by the City and will be based on a combination of grantee performance and demonstrated need over the first 12 months of the grant period.

CAPACITY BUILDING SERVICES & ACTIVITIES

Resiliency Fund grantees are required to participate in both one-on-one and cohort-based capacity building activities, as follows:

One-on-One Capacity Building: While completion of certain capacity building milestones are required, the frequency and intensity of customized capacity building supports will be determined by individual sessions between the grantee and technical assistance partners for a value of up to $30,000. Capacity building supports are defined as hours and services provided by the TA partner to support grantees with developing and implementing certain aspects of their Action Plan.

Cohort-Based Capacity Building: All grantees are required to participate in the Resiliency Fund community of practice valued at approximately $5,000 per organization. Grantees will participate in meetings and workshops framed around peer-to-peer learning and training on topics tailored to the group, including but not limited to youth development promising and proven practices, technology, staff development, strategic planning, and using data, evaluation, and continuous quality improvement.

DATA COLLECTION AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS
OYD is committed to using data, assessment, and stakeholder input to inform strategic investments in equitable and accessible pathways for young people to succeed while creating clearer linkages across youth-serving systems and programs. OYD’s continuous quality improvement (CQI) guiding philosophy informs the design and application of evaluation and learning across the City’s youth investments while centering positive youth development, social justice, and equity. This comprehensive approach operates on multiple levels – participant, program, and systems – working with youth and community to improve outcomes in all three areas.

MEASURING CAPACITY BUILDING
OYD will apply a collaborative approach to measure Resiliency Fund outcomes, while balancing its responsibility as a good steward of public funds. Grantees will be required to submit periodic information and data on their progress and outcomes during the grant period. With support from TA partners, grantees will design their grant outcomes and corresponding reporting templates when developing their Action Plan. Reporting schedules will be determined based on the time needed by each grantee to implement their Action Plan and fulfill capacity building activity expectations. Grantees will receive technical support from specialized TA partners provided by the City on topics such as best practices in project design, data collection, and grant reporting to help them fulfill reporting expectations. (see p. 9 for more on the Action Plan process). The City or its designee will host a mandatory Grantee Orientation near the beginning of the grant period where the reporting process and expectations will be discussed in greater detail.

To support continuous quality improvement of the Resiliency Fund program, grantees will be expected to provide feedback on the overall program structure, capacity building and technical assistance services provided, and the overall grantee experience. Feedback may be collected via a survey and/or in listening session format and is intended to uncover strengths, challenges, and potential improvements to processes, tools, and oversight procedures.

REQUIRED MEETINGS

Grantees are required to participate in meetings throughout the grant period. A schedule of all mandatory meetings will be provided prior to the start of the grant period.

3. SUMMARY OF KEY RFA DATES

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS

- Successful applicants will enter into contract with the City or its designee for a term of 24 months beginning in March 2023.

- Grantees will be paired with TA partner(s) upon execution of the grant contract and will immediately begin developing their Action Plan with support from TA partners. It is estimated that this process will take a minimum of three months.

- Once the grantee has finalized their Action Plan, 70% of their general operating support award will be released.
• The award balance will be released when certain reporting and capacity building activity milestones have been reached. The City will work with each grantee to determine a reasonable disbursement schedule for the award balance.

Please note that contracts cannot be executed until all required information and documents are satisfactorily received by the City or its designee. Fund disbursement is not immediate or automatic and grantees should be prepared to wait several weeks for payment after all requirements are met.

4. HOW TO APPLY AND APPLICATION TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

The City will only accept applications through Submittable by 5:00 PM PST on or before the application due date (Monday, December 19, 2022). Extensions to the application deadline will not be considered unless a documented technical issue with the website is the reason the deadline is missed. To access the submission portal and register for an account, please visit the Resiliency Fund Submittable homepage.

To ensure your experience with Submittable goes smoothly, we offer these tips:

• Submittable works best on Google Chrome, Firefox, and Safari. Internet Explorer is not supported. Please make sure you are using a supported browser.
• Particularly for questions requiring lengthy responses, compose your written responses in a Word document then copy and paste into Submittable.
• Save your draft application frequently using the “Save” button at the top of the screen.
• When saving your draft to return to at a future time, log out of the Submittable portal and re-log-in each session.
• Be sure to “allow” list notification emails from Submittable and check the email you used to sign up for your Submittable account regularly.

Applicant organizations must identify one primary contact responsible for submitting your materials and serving as your main point of contact, although you are welcome to share the login information with key collaborators at your organization.

Upon submitting your application in Submittable, you will receive a confirmation of receipt email.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

Staff Contact/FAQs: To ensure open and equitable access to grant information, all questions must be submitted via email to youthdevelopment@cityofsacramento.org. OYD will make its best effort to answer questions within 24-48 hours in our FAQs, posted here. The City will only accept questions until 5:00 PM PST on Wednesday, December 14, 2022. FAQs will be finalized by 5:00 PM PST on Friday, December 16, 2022.

Submittable Technical Support: For technical questions related to the Submittable platform, please refer to the Submitter Resource Center or contact Submittable Customer Support.
Optional Information Session: OYD will host an optional information session on Monday, November 28, 2022 from 11:30-1:00 PM PST to answer questions about the RFA. No preference will be given to applicants who attend. You may register here.

5. APPLICATION REVIEW PROCESS

- All applications received by the submission due date will be screened by City staff against the eligibility criteria and to ensure all required attachments are accurate and complete. If staff finds any non-technical issue(s), the application may be deemed incomplete and may not be reviewed by the Grant Panel.

- Complete and eligible applications will then be evaluated and scored by a Grant Panel comprised of diverse and non-conflicted stakeholders. Panelists will read and rate applications in accordance with the evaluation criteria and scoring rubric described in the following section.

- After applications have been reviewed, scored, and ranked, panelists may elect to interview candidates still under consideration. If interviews take place, questions will be determined by the application responses of those organizations and may be tailored to each applicant. However, the overall purpose of the interviews will be to fully understand an applicant’s readiness, strengths, and plan for engaging with grant resources.

- The last step in the review process is to conduct a final Grant Panel meeting where panelists will develop funding recommendations for the City’s consideration.

To support an enriching peer-to-peer learning exchange among the grantee cohort, the City aims to grant funds to a diverse mix of organizations representing a cross section of sizes and service areas. City staff will use the Grant Panel’s recommendations, as well as organization profile details including priority neighborhoods served, budget size, and programmatic focus to select the final cohort of grantees.

Throughout the application, evaluation, and award processes, applicants shall not contact members of the City Council, members of the Grant Panel, or City staff to discuss the merits of their application.

APPLICATION REVIEW CRITERIA AND SCORING RUBRIC

The City has developed the following review criteria and scoring rubric in good faith to ensure that all applications are reviewed based on the same review criteria.

The Grant Panel will use these metrics to evaluate and score applications and make award recommendations.
