

You Will Need:

- old CDs or DVDs
- permanent markers in a variety of colours
- fishing line
- 2 sticks
- yarn

Instructions:

1. Wash your CDs in warm, soapy water. This will remove any dust and residue that might interfere with the marker ink adhering properly. Dry well.
2. If you're working on your kitchen table or counter top, you'll want to protect your work surface with a plastic table cloth or a thick layer of newspaper. Permanent markers are just that—permanent!
3. Have the kids colour both sides of their CDs, making sure that the entire surface of each CD is covered.
4. When all the CDs are coloured, it's time to hang them up! Thread a length of fishing line through the middle of each CD and knot the ends together tightly.
5. You can now hang your CD sun catchers individually from the branches of a tree, or you can fasten two twigs together to make "hanger" and attach all of your CDs to it.
